

THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16.

In considering the senatorial question in New York, the republicans should bear this fact in mind, that hesswood never can make a good substitute for brains.

The commissioner of internal revenue reports the collection of $88,803 as taxes on oleomargarine since November 1. The First Illinois district leads with ten manufacturers.

The suggestion of Judge Greenham's name for the presidency has caused The Philadelphia Times, democratic, to say: "Spolia candidates for the presidential nomination of all parties wish Greenham lived in France or Mexico, or the Argentine or some other republic."

Senator Vest of Missouri, wants to let the people know how profitable it is to be United States senator, and therefore answers the statement that he has bought a $50,000 house in Washington. He says he paid $8,500 for the house, and of this $500 was his own money, and $8,000 he borrowed from Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, a republican. Thus you see that party lines are not so lightly drawn as to prohibit a republican from lifting his democratic friend up when the latter is financially down.

The Duc de Levis is dead in France. He held one ancient dukedom in France and another in Spain, and was also Hereditary Marshal of the Faub, a dignity conferred upon his ancestor, Guy de Levis, by Pope Innocent III. The family of Levis Mureaux are one of the oldest in Europe, and indeed they possess a painting which represents one of their ancestors, a Prince of Judah, bowing, but in hand, to the Virgin Mary, who says: "Conversus vult, non cousin."

Mayor Courtney, of Charleston, S. C., has submitted to the city council a preliminary report of the executive relief committee, showing that the total amount of $684,253 was received by them for the sufferers by the earthquake, and that the disbursements amounted to $448,119. Of the balance of $236,139 the committee will reserve $86,430 as in their opinion an ample sum for plastering and the closing up of the unfinished business of house repairs, and will make a special deposit with the city treasurer of $100,000 to be applied to the rebuilding of charitable institutions. The Charleston News and Courier states that the total subscription to the earthquake relief fund will amount to about $815,000, leaving a loss of $5,000,000 by the earthquake of 1885 and the cyclone of August, 1885, to be borne by individuals, corporations and the government.

Since Mrs. Cleveland has returned home it has turned out that she went to New York to shop and buy dresses—write the Washington correspondent to the Baltimore American. The report is that the new dresses have been ordered without train or dancing length, as the dressmakers say; and what is more startling yet, it is said that Mrs. Cleveland intends to give one or two dancing parties in the white house as soon as the official mourning for Arthur is over. Mrs. Cleveland loves to dance and enjoys all the pleasures of young debutantes. She has had no chance to go into society, and she intends to do so this winter, and her friends think she is right. When the subject of dancing parties was broached to the president, he would not listen to it. Then Mrs. Cleveland got out some old books showing pictures of dancing in the executive mansion during former presidents' terms, and finally the mentioned that a stately minuet or square dance would be no harm, and she carried her point with the president, as she always does.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is interesting itself in the republican ticket for 1888, and has named two which it confesses would suit that border paper. Here are the tickets placed in the order of its preference:

For President—Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin.

For Vice-President—William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey.

For President—William B. Allison, of Iowa.

For Vice-President—Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut.

It is real good of the Centier-Journal to go to the trouble to hunt up a couple of good tickets for the republican national convention to consider; and not to be outdone in kindness, the New York Tribune has suggested a ticket for the democratic national convention to convention to consider, with a platform attached:

For President—Alexander H. Garland, of Arkansas.

For Vice-President—Moses E. Benton, of Missouri.

Platform—Resolved, That public office is a Pan-Electric trust, that civil service reform must go, that democratic pernicious activity is all right and that republican pernicious activity is all wrong.

The foregoing is a democratic ticket pure and simple. There is no humbuggery about it, and no false pretenses to the platform. It contains the regular democratic idea of civil service.

There seems to be, says the Madison Journal, a widespread misunderstanding of the number of employees of the legislature and the manner of their employment, it may be well for those interested to become informed of the provisions of chapter 408 of the laws of 1885 whereby this whole matter is definitely disposed of. In the senate the appointments are mostly made by the caucus of the party which is in the majority, the chief clerk being allowed to select copyists when needed. In the assembly the caucus elects the chief clerk and sergeant-at-arms and they choose their subordinates. The speaker chooses the messengers and the chairman of committees which have clerks are allowed to select them. Under the new law the sergeant-at-arms, force in each house is filled at the outset, but only seven on the chief clerk's force in the senate and eight in the assembly are employed at first. After twenty days have elapsed the two chief clerks are each permitted to have five more on their staff of appointees, and to employ copyists, as the needs of their work may require. Three committees in the senate and two in the assembly have clerks from the opening of the session, and after the first twenty days, two additional clerks are allowed to senate committees and three to assembly committees. The total number of salaried positions on the chief clerk of the senate's force is twelve, and on the force of the assembly thirteen. All copyists are paid by the folio, and only for accepted work; so it is manifest that only those who are thoroughly competent can probably undertake to do copying, for though others may be able to secure a trial, their names will not appear on the pay-roll.

SOME STATE GRANGE PROJECTS.

The Milwaukee Sentinel: "The master of the State Grange, (which has been holding its annual meeting at Madison) Mr. Carr, of Rock county, in his address urged, among a number of deserving measures, three which are of a more doubtful character, to-wit: The establishment of a separate agricultural college in this state, making the commissioner of agriculture at Washington a member of the cabinet, and the election of United States senators by the popular vote.

There may be no grave objection to the last-named proposition. These, however, who fancy that better men would be elected in consequence of such a change, are doubtless mistaken. The senators, if elected by popular vote, would nevertheless be actually selected by political conventions. A gathering of politicians, at Madison as delegates of the people, are not likely to choose more wisely than the representatives whom the people elect to the legislature, and who choose the senators under the existing system.

We can see no benefit to agriculture likely to arise from making the commissioner of agriculture a member of the cabinet. The office is now, in theory, a non-political office, the incumbent having no duties except such as relate to the agricultural interest. If he is made a cabinet officer, he becomes at once a political officer, one of the president's advisers, and his political quality becomes more important than his character as an agriculturist. What real benefit would result to farmers? Can any one tell? It is said it would be recognition of the great agricultural interest. But of what value would such a recognition be? Such vague and empty phrases contain no genuine idea. They are generally invented to further the purposes of men who seek some selfish end.

The separate agricultural college would, in our judgment, result in no benefit to the farmers of the state. It would involve the expenditure of a large sum in land and buildings, in salaries and the current expenses of keeping it open, and it would attract a few students from the immediate locality. But that it would accomplish what the friends of the scheme predict, that it would make farming popular with the sons of farmers who would otherwise seek some different occupation, that it would cause the young men in the country to abandon the desire to enter professional life, or find employment in the cities and to turn with enthusiasm to the labors of the farm is purely visionary.

In concluding an article on the abolition cases, the editor of the Montreal River Miner, published at Hurley, says: "It is true that a broad gauge town; a large portion of its people good; good people too, believe in a large measure of personal liberty, in letting people do about as they wish, if they do not injure or disturb others. We are strongly tinged with the doctrine ourselves."

THE SENATE NOT READY.

TO LET THE LIVELY REPORTER LOOSE IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Platt's Bill for Open Doors Very Doubtfully Tabled—Beck Dates the Judiciary Committee—A Colorado Statute Criticizes Randall—Two More Roads Off—Promoted Postoffice—Forfeited Lands for Sale.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 16.—Frye presented in the senate Wednesday a memorial from the board of trade of Bath, Me., asking the prohibition of giving American registry to foreign built ships. Vance introduced a bill to repeal the civil service law for the purpose of amending the postal money order law and to extend the free delivery system were reported from the postoffice committee. Van Wyck offered a resolution asking the secretary of war how the appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi at Omaha has been apportioned. Cullum presented the conference report on the interstate commerce bill, and said he would call it up on Tuesday next. The bill repealing the force of office law was laid over for the day, and Platt called up his resolution for joint executive session of the senate. On motion of Hagar it was tabled—yeas, 23; nays, 21. Beck called up the bill prohibiting members of congress acting as attorneys for railroads and canals. The judiciary committee has offered a substitute, which Beck declared absurd and a burlesque on legislation, intended to defeat a measure the senators dared not vote against directly. After a short executive session the senate adjourned.

The vote by which the open session resolution was tabled was as follows: Yeas—Allison, Beck, Call, Cameron, Chace, Cramer, Cockrell, Colquhoun, Edmunds, Evans, Gorman, Gray, Harvill, Hoar, Ingalls, Jousse, of Arkansas, McKim, McPherson, Mahone, Maxey, Miller, Morgan, Morrill, Pugh, Rubin, Sausbury, Sawyer, Sewall, Spooner, Vest, Walbridge, Watson, Williams, Wilson, of Iowa—23. Mr. Hawley said he voted "no" only because he wanted a direct vote on the resolution.

After some unimportant routine business had been disposed of, the house went into committee on the bill to alter land in severalty to Indians, but the morning hour transpired without action, and the committee rose and passed a bill requiring national banks in Atlanta, Galveston, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Kansas City, and Omaha, to keep on hand money equal to 25 per cent. of their circulation and deposits. Again going into committee, the house resumed consideration of the sundry civil bill and $47,530 was added to build a large steamer for the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Symes of Colorado wanted the appropriation for the signal service increased, and said Randall was a narrow-minded statesman, to which Randall replied that he thought the undersigned of his business. Symes' amendments were rejected, and the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Trenholm's National Bank Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 16.—Comptroller of the Currency Trenholm was before the house committee on banking and currency Wednesday morning and submitted his report on the proposed national banking system. He presented the draft of a bill carrying out the recommendations made in his annual report, with the addition of authorizing the deputy comptroller to sign the name of the comptroller and perform other acts of the principal officer directed by him; also authorizing the continuance of national banks which paid into the hands of receivers, after the claims against them have been liquidated and the stockholders have restored them to their original financial condition.

Walton, of Kentucky, who was appointed chief of the division of internal revenue and miscellaneous accounts in the first comptroller's office Tuesday, refuses Silas C. WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 16.—The secretary of the navy has issued a general order changing the Boston navy yard into an equipment yard under Commodore Schley, chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting. All the shops and such tools and material belonging to the other departments may be needed and be transferred to the equipment department, and others that can not be used will be packed up and shipped to other yards.

Lands Open to Settlement.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 16.—The commissioner of the general land office Wednesday notified the local land offices in California and New Mexico that the lands of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad company, which were forfeited by the act of July 6, 1885, have been restored to the public domain and are open to settlement at $2.50 and $1.50 per acre.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 16.—Sensational disclosures made in this city Sept. 2, in which the name of Rev. Charles L. Goodell, of the Trinity A. M. church, was criminally connected with that of Mrs. Theodore W. Foster, epitomized Wednesday in the hearing of a petition for divorce filed by Mrs. Foster, in which she alleges adultery between her husband and Mrs. Goodell. Mr. Goodell is a famous clergyman of splendid physique, bright and winning features, and just such a man as would be a great favorite in a parish where quibbling women predominate. Mrs. Goodell has also applied for a divorce and the hearing is down for Monday next.

The court-room was packed Wednesday by women and clergymen. Efforts of Mrs. Goodell's counsel to get the case postponed failed, and Mr. Foster took the stand and told of his wife's confession in a broken voice and with tears running down his cheeks. His wife's confession was that one day in the vestry of the church, Mr. Goodell took her by the hand, retained his grasp and almost seemed to magnetize her. A few days later he came to the house, kissed her hand and then, placing his arm around her waist, asked her to be his sister, as he never had a sister. The next morning he was in the direct overtaking, when he came to her house, told her that she did not love her husband and that he did not love his wife. Therefore they were, in the eyes of heaven, man and wife no longer. The testimony was too indecent for publication.

Will Go to See the Ballet.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—The National Opera company, now performing in this city, has sent out invitations to all the clergymen in the city to attend Thursday night and witness for themselves the ballet that so many clergymen have recently denounced. The number of the ministers have accepted the proposition and the performance will be particularly rich in ballet effects for their special benefit.

"Yes," said one of the clergymen, "I am going to the opera Thursday night," said the Rev. Calvin S. Blackwell Wednesday. "The fact is that I have assailed the ballet without ever having seen it, and I want to know of my own knowledge just what there is to it. Of course, some people would say that I should have gone first and preached afterward if I thought it was so grossly immoral, but as I still believe my convictions to be right, I am going to satisfy myself by a personal observation."

Wednesday night "The Huguenots" was given before one of the largest audiences of the week and was liberally applauded. The engagement closes here Saturday night.

A Had Case of Domestic Infamy.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 16.—The little cloud of domestic trouble which hovered over the home of E. M. Seymour broke Wednesday. Several days ago Mr. Seymour returned home to find strange men and women in his house, revelling in dissipation, and to which his wife was a party. The next day he sued for divorce, alleging adultery. Wednesday he brought action for damages against C. McGowan, $5,000 and William Johnson, $10,000, the former for debauching his wife and bringing another woman into his house for the same purpose, and the latter for getting plaintiff's wife drunk and debauching her. The defendants to the case are well known, and the plaintiff and his wife are among the first people of the city. Toledo is on the eve of her greatest social scandal.

Robbed a Girl of Her Hair.

BOYERTOWN, Pa., Dec. 16.—At 6:30 Wednesday morning, while Miss Della Wentzell was alone in the house, her parents having left her for a cigar factory where both are employed, she responded to a knock at the door. A middle aged man, having the appearance of a tramp, forced his way into the room, endeavored to kiss Miss Wentzell with his left arm, and with his right hand a cloth saturated with chloroform under her nose. Upon recovering from the effects of the drug, the frightened girl discovered that she had been robbed of her hair. Miss Wentzell suffered no other violence.

Powderly Accepts the Challenge.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—A Baltimore special to the World says: "It is said that the order was received late Tuesday from Mr. Powderly for all assemblies of Knights of Labor to withdraw their delegates to the federation of trades. This action is attributed to the hostility of the federation and the fact that the forces arrayed by the federation are a severe tax upon those who also have to pay fees as Knights of Labor."

An Irish Bishop's Plan.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.—Bishop McCormack, of Aghony, in an interview Wednesday, advocated as a temporary measure, pending the buying out of landlords, that the government buy the grass, woods and improvable lands and the real forest lands and let them the former to tenants financially strong, and the latter, ready cleared and equipped, to the needy classes.

Russia Getting Ready for War.

VIENNA, Dec. 16.—St. Petersburg papers, received here Wednesday, contain government advertisements soliciting proposals for an enormous quantity of war material, among which are mentioned 20,000 pairs of boots, all of which the government stipulates must be delivered by April next at the very latest.

Alto's Gates Dying.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16.—A statement recently published that Alto's Gates is dying, but is surrounded by friends and comforts at the residence of his husband, S. F. Watkins, 724 North Twentieth street, this city. She suffers terribly from a complication of diseases, and can survive but a short time.

Wipes Out the Entire Capital.

DAS MORRIS, Iowa, Dec. 16.—The report of the bank examiner to the state auditor shows a discrepancy of over $30,000 in the actual condition of the Floyd County bank from that shown by the books, which, if not satisfactorily accounted for, wipes out the entire capital of the bank. The attorney general has the matter in charge.

Charged with Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—The coroner's jury find that John Kelley fired the fatal shot which killed Bernard Haines, during the riot on Sutter street Monday last, and that superintendent McCord, of the Sutter Street railroad, ordered his men to shoot. Both men are charged with murder.

IT IS WONDERFUL.

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is started to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophors was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headaches. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophors is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

East Saginaw, Mich.

About four weeks ago I was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear my shoes; in fact, I could just hobble along, and got very little sleep at night, as I suffered intense pain whether I sat up or lay down. I went out and bought a pair of crutches to enable me to get around. After having them, when on my way home, I stopped in at W. B. Moore's drug store, and noticing Athlophors for sale I decided to try a bottle. After taking half a bottle I laid my crutches aside, only using them the one time on my way home. The swelling is all reduced, and I now wear my boots with perfect ease. I have not had my pain since. I would not take $20 for the balance of the bottle if I could not get more. Any one suffering with rheumatism need not suffer any longer if they will take Athlophors, Jap. Guawana.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, dropsy, impure blood, etc., Athlophors Pills are unequalled."
